Subject: Letter of recommendation for Dr. Wood, PhD

Dear colleague,

our colleague Dr. Wood is a first-rate world-famous scientist. I will therefore dispense with sketching his well-known CV once again.

I already knew his publications of international renown - among others in Nature, Psychoanalysis Now and Brain-Storm. I then personally met Dr. Wood for the first time at a conference in Schattenhausen. I immediately noticed his brilliant reasoning and his ability to enchant all of the listeners, comprising the elite of psychoanalysis. Dr. Wood's theories dominated the room like eternal laws, repelling the criticisms of lesser lecturers without so much as a scratch.

His conclusions were witty as well as elegant, leaving no doubt that Dr. Wood not only dominates the forefront of science but is actually years ahead of many colleagues.

I was recently honored to support Dr. Wood in his groundbreaking studies on projectionistic theory and to invite him to the facilities of the psychiatric clinic for stuffed animals. That Dr. Wood will win the Nobel Prize for psychoanalysis for stuffed animals for this work is beyond doubt. In dealing with the patients, Dr. Wood demonstrated a sure instinct and managed to accomplish a complete turnaround with some hopeless cases.

I therefore support Dr. Wood, this rising star of research, completely. It is a question of honor and a singular chance to feel the touch of this brilliant mind - a mind that does not tolerate doubt and can only find peace in the blinding light of truth.

For these reasons, I assume your loyalty with and your unfailing support of Dr. Wood in his field studies in projectionistic theory. I also request that you care for the doctor and comply with all his wishes and desires. Should you have any further questions, please direct these to the doctor himself - for even my own light shines dully and meekly in comparison with the glamour of this master of analytic psychotherapy.

Best regards,
